Weekly Newsletter:

I hope that you all had a relaxing half-term. Although there was not much to do, I'm sure that the break from home-schooling was a welcome one!

Congratulations to all those who received head Teacher Awards or Class Star for the last week of half-term. You will receive an invite to join us for our SLT lunch on Thursday, 12-12.15pm. If any child missed their celebratory lunch last half-term, please email the office and we would be delighted to have them join us this week.

As today is St Lucia's Independence Day, we have been learning about that beautiful island. We are committed to celebrating the rich diversity of backgrounds and cultures within our school community. It is important that our pupils develop an understanding of the global context in which we live, so we will be marking many other Independence Days and culturally significant events.

Following Boris's announcement tonight, I will be sending out a separate update. Fingers crossed that it will be safe for us all to be back together in school soon!

God bless,
Ms Kane
